The Tariff Bill Still Under Consideration in the Senate.

ACTION, HOWEVER, IS WITHOUT DEBATE

The Party Vote Polled in Several Instances; President Harrison Congratulates Reed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The tariff bill was taken up again, the pending question being of Mr. Gibson's amendment to reduce the range, test from 80 degrees by the amendment to 70 degrees.

The amendment was rejected. Mr. Edmunds inquired whether the understanding made as to voting on amendments without debate could prevent a senator from offering an amendment from stating "not to exceed" to more than two or three minutes its object, or prohibit the asking or answering of a question.

The presiding officer, Mr. Ingalls, unless the chair be otherwise instructed by the senate he will hold that the understanding is that, beginning with the consideration of the bill this morning the action of the senate will be without debate, and that the asking or answering of an inquiry will be debated, and is, therefore, withdrawn.

Mr. Edmunds said—I do not think it ought to be that way, but I can bear it as well as anyone else. The benefit to the patient however, was only temporary. There were very little changes in the condition of the patient, and when a few hours later, she again began to sink, the doctors were not surprised. Within twenty-four hours the patient was dead.

Mr. Gibson offered two other amendments to the sugar section, which were rejected. Mr. Carlisle moved to strike out of the sugar section all the paragraphs relating to the sugar beet industry.

Mr. Gibson moved to insert a provision in the sugar section to substitute for it the sugar beet industry in the Mills bill. Rejected, voice 25, nay 35.

Mr. Eustis moved to insert a provision in the sugar schedule that the bounty shall apply to all sugar produced in 1890.

Mr. Pugh moved to amend the paragraph relating to oranges by fixing specific rates for oranges imported in December, January, February or March. Rejected.

Mr. Pugh stated that he had no record of any imports in December, January, February or March.

Mr. Gibson moved to reduce the duty on bicromate and chromate of potash to 2½ per cent. Rejected.

Mr. Aldrich moved to insert a provision that the import duty on cotton and cotton goods should be banded between 10 and 15 per cent.

Prior to the 1st of August, 1890, may be withdrawn for consumption at any time prior to the 1st of November, 1890, on payment of a duty in force prior to the passing of this act.

Mr. Plumbe moved as a substitute for Mr. Aldrich's amendment a provision that the import duty on cotton and cotton goods should be banded between 10 and 15 per cent.

The Tariff Bill Still Under Consideration in the Senate.

ACTION, HOWEVER, IS WITHOUT DEBATE

The Party Vote Poll'd in Several Instances; President Harrison Congratulates Reed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The tariff bill was taken up again, the pending question being on Mr. Gibson's amendment to reduce the sugar test from 90 degrees by the polariscope to 76 degrees.

The amendment was rejected. Mr. Edmunds inquired whether the understanding made to voted on yesterday each a similar incision was made in the case of the dying woman. A silver tube was used to connect the two. The operation was successfully completed and fully a pint of the young man's blood was infused into the woman, almost entirely veins being almost as stimulating as a hypodermic injection of brandy. Boen experienced no ill effects beyond temporary fainting, and was as well as ever.

The benefit to the patient, however, was only temporary. There was very little chance of saving his life.

It is reported that the majority came to the Saintly city favoring the nomination of Judge Wilson. This sentiment seems to have changed to some extent, making it plain they intend to control the convention and lose Wilson some votes. But the opposition had not come to a standstill, and the cause of the conventionists has still more room. Remarkably successful results have many times been obtained.

CALIFORNIA'S ANNIVERSARY.

Celebrating the Fortieth Anniversary of Her Admission as a State.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—Today is the fortieth anniversary of the admission of California to the Union, and it is being celebrated on the most elaborate scale.

The Native Sons and Pioneers are generally fraternalizing and veterans residing in San Francisco are holding a meeting to plan a suitable object, or program.

The preceding officer, Mr. Ingalls—unless the chair be otherwise instructed by the senate will hold that the understanding is that, beginning with the consideration of the bill this morning the action of the senate will be without debate, and that the asking or answering of an inquiry would be debated, and is, therefore, ruled out.

Mr. Edmunds—I do not think it ought to be that way, but I can bear it as well as the rest.

Mr. Gwin moved two other amendments to the sugar section, which were rejected.

Mr. Carlsbead spoke in favor of the sugar section to the point of adoption.

Mr. Gibson moved to strike out the sugar section and to substitute the relating to the sugar clause of the Mills bill. He rejected it, 25 to 35.

Mr. Eastus moved to insert a provision in the sugar schedule that the bounty shall apply to all sugar produced in 1890.

Mr. Gwin moved to amend the paragraph relating to oranges by fixing specific rates for oranges imported in October, January, February or March.

Rejected.

Mr. Pugh stated that he had been recorded erroneously in the roll of the House of Representatives, and that he was not the author of the motion.

Mr. Plum moved as a substitute for Mr. Aldrich's amendment a proviso that goods in bond at the time of taking effect of the law may be withdrawn therefrom at any time within one year from that date on payment of the duties existing at time of its importation.

A MUGWUMP CONCEIT.

The self-exultation of the mugwump who is wiser in his own conceit than the sum of the wisdom of any party breeds contempt in him for men who respect loyalty to party in the conviction that party organization is the practical method of carrying out definite policies and progressing in good government. With his swollen head in the clouds he turns up his nose at the "small" people and cries out "particulars," "particulars." It was this that got his bite that Job remarked: "Ye are the people (in your mind) and wisdom will die with you."

"The News is not a partisan paper at all!" What a mystery there is in that!

Not a partisan paper! Devoted to no party and to no party policies or interests. Working in no definite line of progress and never counted upon with confidence for support in any trial or in any contest. Refusing to join with any party which is not shaped to suit its every crank notion. Kicking at the whole because of the offence of the part. Zealous for no party cause and no party candidate. Faithful to no party leader and rejoicing in no party triumph. Shoving itself into everybody's nose and serving in nobody's watch. Satisfied with running around doing nothing, however, itself. And then to take in everybody and talk in nobody. For as it is neither cold nor hot, but merely a lukewarm sorehead, every party which uses any use of a mugwump, without profane ends by spewing it out of its mouth.

The Herald is a "partisan paper." It believes that honest, straightforward partisanship means something, and counts for something in practical politics and the push for good government. It follows no will-of-the-wisp or impracticablefad of its own. It is tied to the tail of no party, but it moves straight on in party lines, because it is convinced that progress is best made within such lines, and that nothing is gained by jumping the traces at every little party stumble. It does not pretend that every measure of the republican party, in whole or in part, suits it in detail, and it does not insist with mugwump infatuation that it should be a match for The Herald that the policy of the republican party as a whole is more satisfactory to its mind than the policy of the democratic or any other party in practical politics. That is all the justification it wants for its faithfulness to its party, and it promises to be faithful until some better party is offered for its choice.

The News apparently cannot see the common sense of this position or it would not assert it and set up its own banner of mugwump. Infatuation. The Herald is content to stand by its colors as a "partisan newspaper" and let The News hug its banner to the end. Republican, democrat, alliance man can see where The Herald stands, but who can see where The News stands or can predict with any confidence from day to day what it will stand. The Herald does not care to satisfy everybody with its policies, but it does care to satisfy everybody that a republican partisan newspaper can fight for its party without a single foul blow, and if it does not hit hard it will not be from lack of will. This kind of open fighting may not suit the tactics of The News, but if it does not suit the fair play notions of the people of this city better than stabbing the republican party in the ribs continually, under the mask of mugwumpery, The Herald is mistaken. Good evening, Mr. Democrat, afraid of the name.

There is a big wet blanket for the rainbow chasers in this vote of Maine in this of year. If the raving of the minority rule men has counted for any thing, it has only seemed to fix that "bold bad man" Tom Reed, more firmly in his seat. The stony hearts of the First district only grew the harder under the sloop of the democratic and mugwump missionaries, and the man who has dared to assert the right of the majority to rule in a republic, in the face of rabid ravaging and dough-faced sentiment, has got there with both feet as men will do in the North, who have the courage of their convictions and stand fast for the right. Maine likes a man, and Thomas Reed is a man from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet. He is far from the most popular model, but he is a model for his district, his party and his country in congress than any other man who can be picked out in the First district, and the voters of the district had the sense to see it. That explains his return, and the vote of Maine as a whole shows what every Northern state would do, if it was waked up to the real issues, now half masked, a tariff for revenue only and minority rule. The reversal of the American policy of protection and fraudulent representation obtained by first counting and then stifling the black votes will make the North as solid as the South as soon as the dominant Southern democratic policy is seen to be the dominant policy of the democratic national party.

The Burlington Free Press, which ought to know what it is talking about, says of the Vermont election: "The first question that will naturally be asked is: Does the small vote indicate any change in public sentiment in the state? We unhesitatingly answer no."

Whatever an effort was made to bring out the republican strength the result was flitting. In St. Albans, for instance, where only one candidate was presented for representative, and he a republican, the republican majority was largest ever given a gubernatorial candidate in an off year, and only seventeen less than that given Dillingham in 1888. Had the republicans made any effort in other towns to get out the strength of the party, the result would have been correspondingly favorable." In the light of the returns from Maine, even the rainbow chasers may be less inclined to turn up their noses at this explanation. Add to the republican inertness in a sure state the distraction caused by the high license prohibition contest, and Vermont's vote need give no uneasiness to any republican.

SEEN AND HEARD.

Scientists all over the world are studying the causes and effects of human life, and we have one man whose efforts are directed toward the welfare of his species. He is a man of unusual nature who believes that we are apt to be averse to the study of our own nature by hypotheses that are not based on facts. He is a man of unusual nature who believes that the world is full of secret murder, thefts, petty crimes of all sorts; to even jump out of a window or of a precipice. It is a strange power. Useful when in combination with medicine and surgery; capable of untold evil when used for wicked purposes.

For ages the wonderful race of inventors has been at work, and the United States and China have accomplished the greatest work. Their power was such that they would make trees grow from seed, flower and put forth fruit. Children were born with wings and shot like arrows. They were created as perfect as the angels.

A chester lady staying at Belvoir, I am told, was so fond of the boy she had just adopted that she wanted to keep him. She had given him a name, Charles E. McGinty. So are our quondam myths substantiated.

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY

New Duluth Secures the Hurd Refrigerator Company.

IT WILL TURN OUT 30,000 A YEAR.

No Idle Boast That Claims 26,000
New Citizens For Duluth
Within a Year.

Within the past six months The Herald has published accounts of so many new industries to be established at the nest of the lakes, that it seems no idle boast to tell the country Duluth will add 25,000 to its population within twelve months. The industrial exodus is towards West Duluth and up the river to New Duluth, and the time will come when the banks of St. Louis bay and river will be lined on the Duluth side with numerous manufacturers.

The New Duluth company has already obtained sufficient capital to have the new town a population of 5,000 by next year, and this morning it gives public information regarding another great industry, which will be giving still greater commercial prestige.

Last week a deal was closed whereby the Hurd Refrigerator company is incorporated with $100,000 capital to build a plant at New Duluth for the manufacture of Alaska refrigerators, 30,000 of which were made last year.

At the head of the concern is Charles Hurd, a Michigan city manufacturer and the patentee of the refrigerator. The company has been given ten acres of land in the new Duluth, and the plant just west of the head land owned by the Alaskas Brass & Iron Works. Work will begin on the plant at once. Three buildings will be erected, a warehouse, a dry goods and hardware manufacturing building, the dimensions of the latter being 40x100 feet. All buildings will be of brick, and the cost of the new plant will be in the neighborhood of $100,000. The company will turn out 30,000 refrigerators each year, and expects to be in condition to begin work for next spring's trade. Over 200 men will be employed.

A POPULAR PASTOR.

What the Grand Forks People Think of the New Ending Pastor.

Rev. George H. Kemp commanded his work on Sunday, and gave the people of the Endon Baptist church a pleasant and inspiring service both morning and evening. Speaking of Rev. Kemp's removal The Grand Forks Herald of Sept. 1 has the following notice:

Rev. Geo. H. Kemp has accepted the pastorate of the Endon Baptist church, Duluth, to become its pastor at a salary of $1,000. During two of his residencies here, he has won an enviable reputation, and the church has grown under his ministration, and some sixty or seventy members have been added to the church during this period. In social activities, Mr. Kemp has always taken a deep interest, as is manifested in his active participation in the organization and work of the city青年团.

As a result of his removal from convention, and in other official positions, his removal will be a great loss. In all his efforts Mr. Kemp has been a good and estimable man, by whom the departure of the state department, Woman's Relief corps, lose its chaplain, and the Woman's Board, Star Mission, a good representative of the church. In accepting this pastorate at Duluth, Mr. Kemp has been obliged to decline an equally hearty invitation to Reading, Mass. The best wishes of their many friends here will attend them to their new field of labor.

THE NEW FREIGHT HOUSE.

It Will Be Built on the Site of the Commerical Hotel.

It has been announced of considerable interest to citizens generally as to what use the St. Paul and Northern Pacific yards would put the land occupied by the Commercial hotel on Sixth avenue, which has recently been torn down. It is stated, as given in The Herald, that the same time ago, the next St. Paul & D.L.W. hotel, which will be built on the site of the old one, will be built on the avenue, the building to be used by both roads. The remainder of the land will be turned into a park, as intended by the city fathers, and given to the park commissioners. The park commissioners have agreed to give the park commissioners the land south of the Spalding, and the railroads are to be congratulated upon their session to turn it over to the city for park purposes.

WEST DULUTH.

Preparations for the Celebration of the Arrival of the Swedes; A Pleasant Surprise.

Preparations for the celebration of the anniversary of the landing of Swedes in Delaware have been made by the West Duluth Scandinavian union. At 9 a.m. the union will meet in their hall and at 10 o'clock will meet in the station train. The union and the Tower delegation then go to West Superior at 10 o'clock to receive the gavels from Ashton Hurley, Ironwood and Ishpeming, returning on the 1:30 train. There will then be a street procession composed of different bands of the delegations and the delegations themselves. They will march to Fourth avenue west, near the bay where the celebration and speech will be held. The speech will be given by Grael Marshall J. W. Peterson of West Duluth. Speeches will also be made by John Erickson of Duluth, N. C., and L. E. Johnson of West Superior, J. O. Hancock of West Duluth, W. H. Peterson of West Duluth, and General Secretary Bergeson of Allard. The band will play in the square in summer manner as those celebrating desire. All the celebration in West Duluth will be held on Sunday the 14th. The Duluth celebration will all be held on the 15th, that is on Saturday.

The city council held a brief session last evening. Beyond censuring dilatory contractors and appropriating $500 for advertising the condition of Lake avenue, very little was accomplished. Alderman Mannheim referred to the John Libby case and moved that the street commissioner be instructed to scrap the same. Myron Burnell, chairman of the boards committee, moved that the board decide to marry the plaintiff and that he shall have the alternative of marrying her remaining in jail. To grant the present amount would be to reward a culpable marriage, not commended by religious precepts, society ethics, or public policy, and at which true manhood and womanhood are violated. The plaintiff's conduct does not entitle her to coercive methods but by the influence of love and home. Society is to an extent interested in this question, as it is affected by force to a man to become her partner for life by the court. The present course of action is invariably followed by disappointment and abuse, and ultimately by desertion. They are failure in their conception, and furnish no solution to the problem.

The board of aldermen reported on the case of the conversion of a sewer in Second street, from Seventh avenue east to Ninth avenue east, recommending that it be awarded to John Mallory, T. S. Myles, F. O. Harris and W. J. Holmes. A very pleasant time was spent by all.

The Athletie club gives their first entertainment of the season this evening at 8 o'clock. All members will be present. The program will be a variety show. The party carries with them as a souvenir of the occasion a choice of glass decanter and glasses which were gracefully presented by Chas. W. Hoyt.

The committee on city property and buildings, was instructed to communicate with A. M. Miller, for the removal of the bridge at the head of Lake street, in front of the Third street engine house, ordered by the fire commissioners. The bill was thrown out, and the committee was fully informed that the ordering of the bridge is vested in the common council and not in the board of commissioners.

The same committee, authorized to purchase a lot in Second division for $1,000 for a West End Fifth street residence, voted to do so.

W. Bates and the Snake Saracens, Sept. 9—Mrs. W. L. Bates of Chester village, while trotting upstairs one day this week, saw something dash through the air and fall into a cauldron of hot pitch. She ran downstairs and bolted in great trepidation, for a big headed wader was crawling slowly with intent to leap into the oil. A man came and killed it. A man came and killed it. It was thirty inches long and bigger in girth than a man's arm. It had been climbing the stairs when Mrs. Bates had appeared, and to escape her footstep tumbled into the oil.

The council refused to appropriate $500 for the grading, bridging, curving and gravelizing of First street, from the head of Lake to the 19th of the Duluth Short Line railway. Also Talmage's bridge from the 19th to the 20th of the same street will be removed to the shore. Bills will be received for any part or parts of the bridge, and the same will be paid in full. ## WILL BE OPEN SUNDAYS.

This Has Always Been the Intention of the Library Board.

The following communication from Mr. George Stemer, who is its head:

To the P. B. G.:—This has been some discussion by the press and among our citizens about keeping the public library and reading room open Sunday. This day is, with us, the day of rest.

The question settled after the organization of the board was that both the library and reading room should be kept open all day.

Books will not be distributed in the reading room during those hours, but the books will be loaned by the unanimous vote of the board.

The reader can do what he wants to do.

As far as I am concerned, I have no objection to this.

I am sure the public will be pleased.

It is my opinion that the public wants to have the library open.

It is my opinion that the public

wants to have the library open.

It is my opinion that the public

NEWS OF THE RAILWAYS.

Consolidation of the South Shore and Soo to be Made.

PROSPECTS OF CONSTRUCTION IN 1891.

A Freight Wreck on the Omaha Floods Delay Trains in New York State.

As against Chicago the consolidation of the official departments of Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, and the Soo, is now arranged, which is ready for the吸收 of the Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis. The five lines of the Canadian Pacific can be seen in this condition, and the unification of the management and the passenger departments is in several ways the best thing that could be done.

A meeting of the officials of the Soo and South Shore roads will be held at Duluth this week to decide next, and Meeker, Pitcairn and Hibbard of the South Shore made general manager and passenger agents respectively of both roads. Vice President Finch of the Soo has already been made the active presiding officer of the two railways. It is hardly probable that the heads of freight departments will be changed, but any change in the location of the South Shore's freight department will be made it will be Duluth, for the Soo can never become an even factor in local and through freight with the South Shore.

A Freight Wreck.

The St. Paul through freight on the Omaha consisting of twenty cars which left this city at 6 o'clock last evening, met with an accident just this side of Hastings, resulting in the suspension of several cars and the suspension of traffic. A wrecking train from Spooner was called to the scene of the accident and proceeded north, clearing the road. A special train was sent this morning to transfer passengers and mail aboard the Chicago train. The accident was caused by the spraining of a rail.

Consolidation of the South Shore and Soo to be Made.

PROSPECTS OF CONSTRUCTION IN 1891.

A Freight Wreck on the Omaha; Floods Delay Trains in New York State.

Against Chicago the consolidation of the official departments of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and the Soo reads as an arrangement which is to be made by the President of Duluth, St. Paul and Minnesota. The fine Italian hand of the Canadian Pacific can be seen in this coalition, and the unification of the management and the passenger departments is in several ways the best thing that could be done.

A meeting of the officials of the Soo and the South Shore roads was held this evening this week or early next month. Moses Fitch and Hibbert of the South Shore made general manager and passenger agent respectively of the Soo. Vice President Frost of the Soo has already been made the active presiding officer of the two railways.

A few days ago Mr. Marshall Harris and settled at the treatment received and salaried of braves, horses, stock, and men to work in the mines at times of the winter.

Mr. Wilke, who is president of the South Shore's freight department is in the city to secure legal advice upon a peculiar point.

In his speech at the annual meeting of the Humane society and a very wealthy citizen of Oshkosh, was gathered to his father. He was the owner for many years of a fine horse, that was a pet, and is now dead, hardly anyone notwithstanding.

In his will he left $10,000 to the Humane society, and $10,000 to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

LIBRARIANS MEET.

Prominent Librarians from Different Secs. Meet in Convention.

FARIBAULT, N. H., Sept. 11.—The eleventh annual convention of the American Library Association was called to order last night in the large club room of the Faribault house by President F. M. Crandall, superintendent of the school system. There was a very large attendance of prominent librarians from different sections of the country, those present including S. S. Green of Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. Miller, Chelmsford, Mass.; J. R. Loring, Buffalo; Prof. G. T. Little, Bowdoin College, Maine; H. J. Carr, Grand Rapids, Mich.; W. F. Poole, Chicago; Justin Winsor, Harvard University; George L. Foster, Worcester; W. H. Brett, Cleveland; C. C. Dudley, Denver; C. A. Nelson, New Orleans; H. M. Viles, Des Moines.

The present delivered a very interesting address on the growth and development of libraries during the past year, and reports of the sessions were made.

The present session opened at 2:30 this morning when reports on classifications and catalogues were presented by Librarians of Boston, New Haven, Providence, Cuttler, Boston, and Foster of Providence.

Following the reports there was a general discussion. This afternoon the meeting adjourned.

The Indians in the State of Minnesota will be in session several days.

The Indians of that place are alarming.

It is ground of an old camping spot for the Nez Perces Indians before the Indian War of 1887. After the capture of the Nez Perces under Chief Joseph and the exile of the Indians for ten years they were permitted to return to the reservation at Lapwai, Idaho.

The tribe is very much disintegrated and scattered at the treatment received.

Death of a horse, loss of stock, and are now very poor.

Over 200 Indians are now camped at Meadows and a number of warriors are in war paint.

The people here are said to be in the service of the Indians. Savages tell the settlers to be careful. The greatest excitement prevails in Long Valley.

Settlers are alarmed and are arming themselves to defend their homes against the attempts of the savages to murder their families and to burn and pillage their homes.

Governor Shewell has issued a proclamation that it will be to Duluth, for the Soo road can never become an even factor in local and through freight with the best thing that could be done.

A meeting of the Soo and South Shore roads was held at the head of the South Shore and Soo to be made.

THE DIFFERENCE.

The nonpartisan News has the gall to put the tariff plank of the Fifth district republicans' convention on par with that of the nonpartisan democratic convention from which The Herald quoted yesterday, and to ask The Herald why it does not jump on one as hard as the other. Here is the plank which the News has been trying to twist into free trade time:

"We endorse the efforts made at tariff reduction and ask that they be continued on the face of a reduction of the revenues to the point that only sufficient may be raised to meet the expenses of the government. Economically administered and the duties shall be so adjusted as to bear fairly and equally on all sections and interests of the country. We are anxious in favor of the idea of a protective system of trade as advanced by Hon. James G. Blaine. We believe that through it the tariff may most profitably be reduced, and at the same time furnish a larger market for the produce of our farmers and fishermen."

Here is a stock call, common to both parties for economy and judicious revenue reduction, a request that tariff revision be continued toward an ideally equitable adjustment of duties, and an endorsement of Blaine's reciprocity plan. The News may twist its own concept about it, but it cannot twist the plank to suit its concept. It was not framed to accommodate The News, and it would be a marvel if any republican platform plank did suit a masked democrat. But if its own concept suits The News nobody will raise any objection to the persistent hugging of that concept. For there is very material difference between conceit hugging and the actual twisting of a plank or the splicing of a protective system. All the conceit of The News will not make that piece of the platform which denounces the American protective system as wrong in principle, false in promise, and fit only to cast into outer darkness.

The News affirms for its own satisfaction that there is no "protection" in the republican plank. The men that framed it would unquestionably affirm the contrary if they thought it worth while to notice the twisted concept of The News. The republicans of this district differ no doubt in regard to the shaping of the tariff, but few if any, we believe are free traders, and these few would certainly misrepresent the conviction of the great body of republicans. The republican party of this country is committed beyond doubt by repeated declaration and act to the support of the American protective system and is fully to protect otherwise. Any particular tariff may be amended by individual judgment for what is best in kind and suitable in all respects to everybody and perfect at all points? But in all reforms by true friends of protection the essence of protection will be preserved. In the hands of the republican party, the tariff is in the hands of its friends. It will not be hacked into a free trade model, as it would be under the hands of the triumphant democracy.

Hence we hold unhesitatingly that if a republican convention plank had only a poor ounce of protection in it, it would still be preferable to a plank without even that ounce. And more than that. If a republican convention plank was absolutely meaningless or open to misconstruction, or even free trade in meaning, the plank would not weigh one straw against the known protectionist sentiment of the republican party. Plank or no plank, a vote for a republican is a vote in the interest of protection, and a vote for a democrat is a vote in the interest of free trade. That is the practical situation in a nut shell and everybody knows it. And the Herald concerns itself about, and not the concept of The News or any other enemy of the republican party.

An increased enrollment of ten percent to date in the public schools of the city is a truly gratifying showing in face of the material obstacles and disadvantages which the crowded conditions of the schools and the changes now underway present. Duluth has a right to be proud of its public schools and its provision for their advancement, and the press deserves a hearty round of words of the demand for this provision and the recognition of the worth of the schools. No star in the city's cap is brighter and should be kept brighter than its crown school.

The announcement of the organization of two companies to mine for copper or false Royale is a bit of news in The Herald today which is worth special note. Both corporations are young American capitalists and both are amply able to mine to advantage. All the capital that goes into the development of the resources of this region. The Herald welcomes whether it be foreign or American. For the company that is here adds strength to our national wealth, makes us more and more self-reliant, and expands more and more our national market. These things do not count for anything in the estimation of the free trader who has seen the tide of capital and labor drawn in from abroad by the American protective system, but we have still here a lingering prejudice of patriotism which prefers the growth of this country to the growth of any other.

Yesterday's record Dispatch from Washington: "The hours spent on the day in filibustering on the question of approving the journal, the object of the obstructionists being to prevent consideration of the Langston-Venables election case." Oh, free speech, what ridiculous abuses are permitted in thy name? Here is the working time of both branches of congress, which should be practical business bodies, wasted day in and out because of the preposterous straining of the theory of till and debate legislative questions. Yet any attempt to restrict the absurd privileges of obstructionists under the license given by the rules of the government is met with a screech of "treason."

It is a fact that a screech of recklessness or selfish filibusters is practiced in practice to sprawl on the rights of the majority, block any useful legislation, and make a mock and a nullity of the representative body of the nation. The country has put up with this nonsense too long. Now make the rights of the majority respected and respectable. For what has been done in the present congress to this end The Herald is duly thankful, and believes that the common sense of the country will approve the more.

It is stated that alleged Canadian timber depredators on the international boundary northwest of Duluth have been given ample time by the announcements of the government as to its investigations to cover up their tracks, and the government has been severely censured for making public its intentions of a thief hunting expedition. Just how timber choppers who are stated to have stolen 15,000,000 feet of pine along the Big and Little Fork rivers can cover up their tracks is unexplained and we don't see any chance for an explanation. Cut forest and camps of choppers who can cut so great a quantity as 15,000,000 feet a year can not be covered over or hidden on request. But the fact of the whole matter is that there has not been claimed a special correspondent in The Herald who showed correct space when this question first came up a year ago that there was but a comparatively insignificant quantity of timber stolen, and that the chopping was done by a few men who moved along the rivers from place to place cutting a few hundred thousand feet here and a few hundred thousand there wherever it could be felled into the streams without hauling. This stolen timber was sold to legitimate operators or floated to Rat Portage and sold there, and it is doubtful if any government expedition, however secret it might aim to be, could do anything more than stop future illegitimate timbering.

SEEN AND HEARD.

Some one at the World's Fair meeting May day made the suggestion that a director reelected from the ranks of those who got up the original exposition. It was received as a good idea, and the speaker added that if America could furnish a committee of the like rank and file of the republican party in the country. The News seems to take upon itself to dictate what shall not be nominated as sheriff and register of deeds at the coming republican convention. That is a good idea, but a failure in several departments the disparity which it should be, owing, perhaps, to the existence of an intense rivalry between convention and exposition. One can hardly expect a better than the world has ever seen, but work must be done to have it succeed in general interest. The continental exposition at Philadelphia.

There is an immense amount of work to be done before '91," said Commissioner Harrison just now at the World's Fair. Another day, "Numerous committees must be appointed before the real work begins. The hard labor, of course, is in securing foreign exhibits. Bureaus will be established in every country of the world, and when the charge of the work will devote two years in getting the products of foreign art and manufacture. An expert and assistant will be appointed to each country, and will be responsible for all the work in that country. A supervising architect will be appointed to the work, and will be responsible for all the work to be done in the building of the building.

Tom Lowry, interviewed in New York says that the two new railroads will probably be raised in his own state and the world at equal amounts. Senator Calvin Coolidge, who was talking with him, declared that from information he received it would not go above $100,000,000, whereas Mr. Lowry modified his estimate to $50,000,000, but would not admit the possibility of its being lower. The estimated cost of the proposed line of the Northwestern roads, who have pretty accurate means of information, places the crop at $100,000,000.

It is queer how closely a man's opinions are related to his pocketbook and how quickly one responds to the other. I know a certain Duluth head meller who has been living in the city for a year. When he first came he bought a few lots in the Twin Cities and he started the greater number of men to the Twin cities this week.

Winona Republican: It is a point of pride to the Winona people that they supported the man at the chief end of the democratic party to open the home market to foreign manufacturers—not to open the foreign market to American producers.

TEN PER CENT INCREASE.

Public School Enrollment Shows Good Additions.

EVENING SCHOOLS TO BE CONTINUED.

Annual Figures of the County Schools As Officially Made up for the State.

R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools, has completed the registration of the city schools which show the following enrollment of scholars: Lincoln, 300; Jackson, 400; Bay, 250; Adams, 362; Jefferson, 389; Madison, 130; Park Point, 90; Cleveland, 100; Franklin, 350; pupils belonging to Washington school, first and second grades in attendance at the High school building, 200; High school proper, 180; making a total registration up to date of 2,710 scholars, an increase of 242 as compared with the figures of last year.

This increase, considering the fact that the schools are crowded into buildings that are not large enough, is not surprising, since the Education building, not completed and that the arrangements of the High and Washington schools are temporary, is considered by the superintendents as a great success. It looks for much greater proportionate increase when the night schools open.

The night schools which were a success in the fall have been discontinued, opening the first of November. Evening sessions will be held at the Adams and the High school buildings. In addition, the Evening schools, including bookkeepers, will be given by competent teachers, four of whom will be employed. The evening schools will afford opportunities for increasing the day opportunity for improvement.

There was an average attendance last year of about 500. The manual training department, connecting with the High school, was discontinued. It was in effect last year, and was in charge of Professor A. B. Fairbanks, who has now charge of the Worcester Public Schools.

The annual report of the county superintendent of schools furnished the state superintendent for the school year ending June 30, 1890, shows the following enrollment of students, 4537; number of teachers employed, 118; amount of teachers' wages, $61,329.75; eight school houses were built during the year, and $8,024.00 was spent in the construction of school houses, 40. The statistics collected by State Labor Commissioner Lamb of schools in the state show, as was noted in a recent interview, that the enrollment in St. Louis county is at the head of the list for attendance, 802 pupils attending 33,822 days, or 93.9% to each pupil, while in the county, at the other end of the list, the attendance was 33.8% to each pupil.

One most encouraging feature of school work is the placing of libraries in the schools. About 1500 volumes have been placed in county schools within the past two years and 500 more will be introduced this fall.

SHALL VALUE GO DOWN?

Opinions of Bankers and Heavy

ON HORIZONTAL TAX REDUCTION.

Generally in Favor Though the 5 per cent Mink is a Stun-bling Block.

City Assessor Cooley, who is also a member of the state board of equalization, and at present in St. Paul attending its sessions, is still considering the advisability of asking the board for a reduction of 15 per cent on the present assessed valuation of the real property in
St. Louis county, amounting to $14,540, 452.

This would be brought before the board and acted upon this week.

Mr. Cooley's view is that the 15 per cent is higher than in other parts of the state, and that unless there is a reduction we will pay a proportion of state taxes even if we get a dollar or more.

The other truth lines limited the operation of the decision.

As is well known, the Pennsylvania state commerce measure, a goodly proportion of its provisions having been received, came into the session of the legislature and that with which it has seized the first opportunity of rendering invalid one of the principle provisions of the act is taken by the state that it had not received enough of its own money. At the same it is said that the law has in the main of free transportation saved the road nearly three-quarters of a million dollars since it went into operation.

Recommending a reduction of 15 per cent is the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen.

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

Market Opened Firm at Yesterday's Prices.

RAIN AND SNOW IN RED RIVER COUNTRY.

Has the Effect of Delaying Threshing and Marketing; No Foreign Demand for Breadstuffs.

Wheat opened firm here with buyers at yesterday's closing quotations, and advanced  $\frac{1}{4}$  on the early trading for December and May wheat, but about 11 o'clock commenced to weaken, and under slow and light trading declined  $\frac{1}{4}$  from the opening deals and 1 $\frac{1}{4}$  from the top prices by noon. Heavy rains and snow storms in the Red river country last night, having the effect to further delay threshing and marketing, was the principal "bulwark" against the market's holding conditions at New York and no foreign demand for American breadstuffs at present prices were the bearing features of the market. The ruling rule of irregular during the last hour recurred to the opening figure, and closed easy  $\frac{1}{4}$  off from yesterday's close both for December and May wheat. Cash No. 1 hard closed at 105¢ bid, No. 1 northern closed at 99¢ bid, No. 2 northern closed at 91¢ bid, September closed at 90¢ bid, October closed at 105¢ bid, November closed at 105¢ bid, May No. 1 closed at 11½¢ bid.

Sergeant Fallon of the signal service bureau received orders from Washington last evening to hoist the cautionary northwest signals, and this morning a dispatch from Washington said that the signal had been hoisted on the Great Northern line. At present the line is the best, but the last 10 miles of the line between St. Paul and Moorhead was central in eastern Minnesota, and the indications were that there would be no high wind after the signal was hoisted. The indications were that the weather would clear up later and be followed by a decided fall in the temperature, with a possibility of snow. This prediction was fulfilled, for at 12 o'clock the wind was blowing at the rate of 40 miles per hour, and the temperature was 40° below zero. OF LOCAL POLITICS.
The Situation as Complicated by the Alliance.COUNTY OFFICES AND PLACE HOLDERS.
Messrs. Shepard, Sherry, Johnson, Pressnell and the Rest of the Anxious Ones.

Under ordinary circumstances, it would be a little early yet to talk about the situation in county politics, but the alliance movement has set the ball rolling and the work of the convention last Saturday has been the principle talk among the politicians. The republican leaders agree that such a landslide as that which elected Mayor Davis last spring would not occur again in a thousand years, nevertheless, a great many are apt to under estimate the following of the alliance ticket. The conservative estimate is that the ticket will receive from 600 to 1000 votes in St. Louis county, nearly all of which will be polled in Duluth.

The question naturally arises, where will these 600 or 1000 votes come from? Representative labor men, members of unions, while忠于the American Federation of Labor, say that both were promised to the alliance ticket was tendered to them, and that they both allowed the use of their names. Neither of the two have publicly announced their acceptance of nomination, which is evidence that they are going to realize that the question is a serious one. There is a probability that they will both receive the nomination from the republicans. There is, however, a possibility that their calculations might miscarry. If they receive the nomination, the republicans will pull the usual republican vote on the range. If they decline the alliance nominations, they lose 600 to 1000 votes in the city, a rather serious loss, and if they do not, they should slip up on the republican nomination and stand by the alliance, their election would by no means be certain. Altogether it is a hard matter to figure out.

A secret conclave of a few of the leaders of the republican party was held recently at a private club. A slate was fixed up, and Shepard and Sherry were present, and they were slated for a renomination. What was done with Capt. Pressnell they refused to divulge, but even if they did disclose it, he would keep the captain, he will not have plain sailing, as D. J. Sinclair is after the nomination and will stay in the fight till the last moment. Just what the alliance will have for county treasurer is not given out, but they say that J. P. Johnson has held the position long enough and should give somebody else a chance. This is the reason that they can find in him however. A few days ago Mr. Johnson received a letter signed by a large number of republicans, promising their endorsement of his candidacy and pledging their support, and he has also received endorsements from other sources, all of which goes to show that most of the publications of the city are in favor of his re-selection.

The action of Fred J. Voss in accepting the alliance nomination has been criticized by a number of his best friends. They would have advised him to hold off until next spring, and run for a reelection. The reason for this is that he did the same thing in 1886, and did the same thing in 1888. The result of this was that he would have almost a solid labor vote as a candidate of the alliance, he came to expect to get this vote, and even if it got a democratic endorsement, he can not expect to get much of a vote on the range.

The candidacy of Capt. Sellew for the senate has received quite an impetus during the past week. Being a republican, the Captain with his personal popularity would secure nearly every vote on the range, and his election is regarded as almost a certainty.

DR. LORIMER GOES ABROAD
With Hopes in Effect to Restore Him to Health.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Among the passengers for Europe on the steamer Etruria which sailed this morning, was Rev. Dr. G. C. Lorimer, the eminent Chicago divine, whose mental and physical breakdown has attracted considerable attention recently. Dr. Lorimer is accompanied by his wife, Mrs. S. C. Griggs Junry. He has been granted a year's leave of absence by his church, and the party will find its quarters in Scotland, remaining two months if the climate does not prove too vigorous.

When the ex-bishop returns they will go to the south of France. The condition of the divine has somewhat improved since he stopped the use of medicine, and reported to the massage treatment, but even so, he is attended to be not allowed to travel without about the slightest detail and light literature, and very little of that, constitutes his only exercise. His most intimate friend in home, the last six or eight months abroad will fully restore his mental and physical energies.

A MOVE TO RECOGNIZE BROTHERHOOD.

Notes of Sport in General; Sullivan's Troublesome Followers; What The Outlook Is.

Dave Rowe, manager of the Denver club, as follows on the towns that will comprise the Western Ball Association next year.

"With the possible exception of Sioux City, the Western will remain as stands today. If Sioux City desires to retire, I should be in favor of admitting Grand Rapids. A good many of the writers on baseball, as well as the sporting papers, have been doing up an association of St. Paul, Indianapolis, Omaha, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Detroit, but it cannot be denied that just now the Western pays its dues, in a spirit to remain in the association, and Denver, Lincoln and Sioux City have been complying with the franchises and cannot be dropped unless they desire to do so. I do not see the great change, any way. Denver and Lincoln are good towns. Sioux City was once, but masters have changed and the locality may not be so good as before. Just now, however, we will have a strong association, and we will have a strong organization as there is in the country."

"Mr. Rowe, what are your feelings in regard to the formation of the National League and American Association for protection in the future, as you have done in the past?"

"I am now, and always was, opposed to it. I will be opposed to it next year, because those two organizations play no better ball than our Western, and it is very difficult to get performers from the West. I am a Brethren man, anyway, and instead of recognizing the two older organizations I think we should recognize the Players' league and play exhibition games against the cities in the protests of the National and American magazines. The Players' league have the players and are in the field to stay."

The fact that train and bank robbers have been of just the same degree in Minnesota as in the state of Howard County, bears out this impression. They have been just as frequent, and more successful, as the perpetrators in every instance have gotten clean away.

The man who is to be tried for the killing of James' residence, at Thirteenth and Lafayette. He was probably ordered that at this time and for this purpose, the great bandit leader left the city just before the killing, or just at the time of the killing.

There is only one argument against these theories, and that is the identification of the man as the killer, but that goes for nothing except to strengthen the theories advanced. The man killed probably a new member of the band, who is in the same sense, as the gang held up a train in 1881, brings this matter vividly to mind, and indicates, from the case with which the robbers worked, that the place was laid by the old crowd.

The winter sporting season is drawing to a close. Only a few more events are chronicled to take place. Next Monday the invitation regatta, and on Oct. 6 the intercollegiate championships will be held at New Haven. Only three more yacht regattas will be sailed this season.

In view of Killian's overwhelming dominance in the Boston boat races, statements to the effect that he can win the race with a little help from Sullivan's are a little out of place.

Since John L started out in the theatrical business sports have received all over the country. It has been a success, and the ring, and any number of second-hand "pugs" are now ready to fight him for an amount.

In view of Killian's overwhelming dominance in the Boston boat races, statements to the effect that he can

These are days of excitement in baseball diplomacy, such as championship.

In both the Players' league holds the whiplash. It has the prettiest pugilistic race ever known in the history of baseball, and its record is not bedimmed by fears of deals, debts and dishonor.

New York and Brooklyn are running a race, and Philadelphia and Chicago clubs by no means out of it.

In the National league the Bradfords are so much superior to all other clubs that they cannot lose unless some extraordinary casualty happens to them.

Notes.

Saturday evening next the yachting season at Minnetonka closes with some small boat races, and the big boat race for the pennant, and as each has won one race the match should be exciting. The Bird and Volante will sail a match, and the Idia and Tropic will compete for the pennant.

The boats will start at 10:15 a. m. if the wind is good, and if not, in the afternoon.

Charles F. Dunbar, Buffalo, has just lost the famous rooster Johnston (2/26/90) of E. C. Long of St. Paul for $7000. Johnston has the fastest mile record of any trotter or pacemaker in the world.

At the meeting of the Cleveland Driving Park association next week, Sonol, Palo Alto and Royal Wilkes will be sent to the park.

Billy Rhines, the phenomenal young pitcher of the Cincinnati is laid up with laryngitis.

The Wisconsin horses seem to be the only distinguishing element that enters into the calculation of form just now. Thus far they have all shown themselves handy and dangerous.

The Mutual comedy company, of which Jack Ashton and Jake Kite are members, met with such a cold reception in Chicago when it produced "Jack and Jill," that the management is having the play rewritten, and the company will rest till the end of this month.

It is stated that Capt. Comiskey, of Chicago, will take charge of the Philadelphia Players' club next year.

The ten-round "bout" between Mike Brogan and Tom Murphy took place Saturday evening in a quiet New Jersey town. It was declared a draw.

The Olympic club of New Orleans has $9000 for a finish fight with the champion of the world.

The five-mile race between Villa Park, of Dakota, and Annie Anderson, of Lake, Minn., has been postponed.

MEADE-MEDSON.

The veteran actress will be married on Monday evening.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Theatrical circles have been thrown into something of a flutter by the announcement that James Meade, the veteran theatrical manager, at one time the husband of famous actress Luella Carter, is to be wedded in October. Meade is known in almost every town that boasts of a place of amusement between Eastport, Me., and the Golden Gate, will be invited in miniature to the wedding of Miss Meade.

The ceremony will take place at the residence of the bride's mother, 201 West Forty-third street.

Miss Meade has been well known in professional and society circles in New York, Chicago and other cities for several years and is very wealthy, while the happiness of the bride is to be measured by her connection with the various spectacular enterprises brought out under the auspices of the Chicago Opera house. He is now in the city, and company, with which he has been connected.

He is the son of "Bluebeard Jr." and can only reach this city on Monday night forty minutes before the time set for the ceremony.

Mrs. Leslie Writes of Fair Dames She Remembers.

MANY BEAUTIES OF A CENTURY.

Bernhardt and Her Temper; The Girl Who Woods; Plates of Fashion; Some Pluck.

In a vision of fair women the beautiful belles I remember myself or who have been described to me by mother and grandmother reach back a century. First on the list is the famous Emily Marshall of Boston. Her picture and a sketch of her life appeared in a recent publication, and I will only add here an anecdote related of her by my grandmother.

Miss Marshall was an exquisite blonde, with fair hair worn in natural curls, and a skin tinted like a pink blossom. She was one day walking on Broadway, New York, her white dress trimmed with blue ribbons, a wide straw hat shading her eyes, and a sailor boy looking up to her and asking her to tell him where to find the Battery. With charming sweetness she gave the information and the sailor, with his surprise at the next corner, the most natural manner asked the same question. Thinking she had not spoken clearly enough pointed out the received mode distinctly and once more called the sailor boy to tell him where to find the Battery. After replying "I will go to Astor and become a modiste there." Then you shall, ma chere ami; I will teach you.

In this time the object of the young widow's ambition was achieved, and she found herself in New York, engaged in fairly profitable work. A few months after her arrival in New York she met the famous Bernhardt, and became her pupil. One morning the latter found upon her dressing table a letter from the Parisian modiste asking madame to come to her school to receive a course in tailoring. Madam agreed, and in her costume that might be required during her stay in America, adding that it would be of immense advantage to her business to know how to make a bonnet.

Thus began the modiste's costume.

Much to her surprise and delight the next morning's mail brought a reply from Bernhardt, which read:

"Oh, yes, miss, I understand."

"I answered, "but I would run around a block all day if I could see pretty face at once."

The beautiful Elizabeth Patterson, of Baltimore, who married Jerome Bonaparte, the brother of the great Napoleon, was a belle of note in New York at the time of her wedding. She was a veritable "daughter of the gods, divinely tall and incomparably fair." Her hair was coiffed in a coquettish style, her complexion tinted like a pink blossom. Her figure was perfect, and all the graceful outlines were plainly disclosed by the costume of which she was wearing. Her dress was then worn short of waist, with skirt reaching only to the ankle, and so scant that there was just room to stand before a mirror, apparently enraged and tearing her passion to tatters.

Taking no notice of the young woman, he arrived that evening at the hotel where she was staying, and on inquiry as to the underclothes worn by the belle, he was told that they were the same as the description constituting it. It was said of only one garment of mull. A cousin of my mother's who was present at the dinner asked what she thought of the belle.

"I could put all the clothes she had on in my waistcoat pocket, and that three men would be informed by a crowd of adorers."

It should be noted that the waistcoat of that day had more generous pockets than the vest of today. Yet never since classic times has any costume so seemly or proper been worn.

For the most remarkable belle that our country ever produced was Octavia Walton of New Orleans. A small woman, plump figure and expressive dark eyes, she had a decided social look and yet probably no girl ever queened it as absolutely as she did.

"Miss Walton was born in 1830, and that three men were informed by a crowd of adorers."

It was said that she was fatigued by the inspection of the belle, and wherever she went she was surrounded by a crowd of adorers.

It was said that she fatigued the accommodations at the hotels of fashionable watering places, because wherever he came with his fascinating daughter an air of unmistakable fastidiousness was about him, and so many young women, with whom he was in contact, that the success of the establishment would be assured.

What the secret of her charm? Flattery stirred her way; attentions of all sorts were lavished upon her. It was said that she received a hundred offers of marriage. With the subtle suggestion that she was the bellest woman? She was not beautiful nor especially witty. My mother once asked a cousin who was utterly devoted to her what she thought of that much Miss Walton so attractive. He thought a moment with a puzzled brow, and then said:

"A WOMAN'S PLUCK.

A Tale of the Sea That Might Serve for a Novel's Plot.

The last Australasian mail brings a true tale of the sea that reads more like a romance of Clark Russell's. On April 3, 1888, John, a leading merchant for tailors, was brought in a few days for the inspection of the fair Sara, and passed it only acceptable, but as a companion with whom to go to Australia. Mrs. Bernhardt rushed impulsively after her and exclaimed, "Ah, mon Dieu! I forgot a wreath of flowers, a long garland—so-called original!" And with this remarkable order the visitor took her departure.

The "bonnet, yet not a bonnet," she said, and not a necklace, and a wreath of Marquises, were brought in a few days for the inspection of the fair Sara, and passed it only acceptable, but as a companion with whom to go to Australia. Mrs. Bernhardt rushed impulsively after her and exclaimed, "Ah, mon Dieu!

I forgot a wreath of flowers, a long garland—so-called original!" And with this remarkable order the visitor took her departure.

A few months later Bernhardt kept her word, paid all the expenses of the trip, and sent her to Australia.

GOVERNOR MERRIAM'S STATEMENT.

In the Herald today, in answer to the inquiries of a Herald reporter, Governor Merriman explains briefly his attitude and feeling toward Duluth and Duluth interests. It will be unquestionably the sentiment of fair minded men of either party that bis straightforward rejoinders and assurances are entitled to unprejudiced consideration. If his course has been misapprehended or misjudged, fair minded men will certainly not refuse to put this explanation against their young impressions, and give it the full weight to which it is entitled.

As a matter of personal concern to the governor and manifest interest and importance to Duluth, this statement would have been entirely becoming and appropriate at any time when it was called for. It is particularly so at this time, when the citizens of Duluth are soon to be called upon to pass judgment upon the public acts and personal bearing of the chief executive of the state and the chosen candidate of the republicans.

It will be seen that Governor Merriman gives a flat contradiction to a current charge of intentional discrimination against Duluth interests and declares in the most positive way his regard for Duluth both officially and personally. The act most pointedly criticised, his veto of the irrigation bill, he explains on the basis of his confidence to the judgment of the legal adviser of the state, and his feeling that he was unauthorized as the chief executive of the state to surrender without unexceptionable legal warrant, any possible property of the state. In place of such warrant he had the adverse opinion of the attorney-general and by its course was guided. In the matter of appointments, he makes a showing which will probably surprise many who have accepted chance flings in place of actual examination. And to a current impression as to the matter of personal investment and prejudice, he responds in a straightforward fashion certainly gratifying to Duluth.

The Herald is pleased to present this statement, and calls for simple justice to it and to the candidate of the republican party. Upon the announcement of the choice of the convention, The Herald saw only one course open.

After the publication of the present republican paper, it has been instances of discrimination against Duluth on the part of Governor Merriman, he was none the less the declared representative of the party in the state, and refusal to support him from any local considerations was practically equivalent to an abandonment of the broad interests of the party for local and personal resentments. This The Herald, for one, would not do, unless the discriminations complained of were actually abusive and intentionally injurious, declaring a purpose really threatening to Duluth. It was and is, impossible for it to believe that any governor of Minnesota could have a purpose so senseless and wicked, and only the most inveterate prejudices and folly could charge such a purpose against Governor Merriman. The Herald, accordingly, declared its intention to support loyally the party candidate, and it sees no just reason for questioning the frank assurances of Governor Merriman or supporting him half-heartedly. The republicans of Duluth will work and vote for him.

Today the sun is smiling on the celebration of the 22nd anniversary of the landing of Swedes in America. Scandinavians are indeed a large factor in the life and business of Duluth, and there can be but one wish for all of Scandinavian birth or descent—may they prosper. The turnout this afternoon is indicative of the interest felt in the event, which all commemorate as a truly American celebration.

The school board of New Britain Conn., sent to Youngstown, O., to get a pretty school teacher. When she arrived at New Britain the selectionmen of the village decided that she was not up to grade in looks and sent her home with a month's salary. Chicago's Superintendent Howland states that this action of the Connecticutites was quite the proper thing. "Beautiful women," says Col. Howland, "make the best teachers." What Superintendent Denfeld has to say on the matter is a question. Now, all of the women in Duluth schools are beautiful, and it is an admitted fact that our corps of teachers is the best in the country.

A late census bulletin presents in detail the financial condition of the counties of the several states of the Union. In 235 counties, in 1870, the aggregate bonded and floating indebtedness was $15,553,510. In 1883, in 236 counties the debt was $125,621,455, a decrease of $51,914,055. In 1890, the aggregate indebtedness of 272 counties is $145,000,840, an increase of such debt for the decade of $20,072,385, the floating indebtedness having decreased $3,894,028. The net debt is $115,221,885, and the annual interest charge is $7,313,374. Taken geographically, the Western states show the heaviest county bonded indebtedness, the aggregate being $77,676,910, an increase since 1880 of $15,337,492. Of the Western states, Kansas has the heaviest county bonded indebtedness, $14,229,675; Illinois next with $11,467,856. Minnesota's figures are $3,126,438, an increase of $2,327,711 since 1880, or 204 per cent. Minnesota's floating county indebtedness is $145,940; the sinking fund, $84,474; available resources, $14,000,769, and net debt, $1,874,221, with an annual interest charge of $167,203. The whole is about the same as in 1880.

The new Western states where enterprise, independence and brains have caused a phenomenal growth in the last decade are naturally republican. As far as to any arrangement which may be devised they will be entitled to an increased representation in the lower house of congress, and the republican majority will consequently become larger than ever. There is little conciliation for the democrat in the thought that if the present basis of representation—one representative to about 151,000 people—is maintained the republican gains in the house would be large, while if the present membership of the house, 332, is not increased, the democratic losses would be large.

The Democratic will bow to the inevitable. The Buffalo Express is commenting on the Dred Scott compromise bill, just introduced, as follows: "It is probably the fairest arrangement that can be made."

The statement that 180,000 is the basis of representation which would give rise to the least discontent. It will increase the membership of the house to 335 and will, incidentally, increase the present republican majority by fourteen, provided the vote is relatively unchanged.

If the membership of the house is not enlarged, the representation of several states would have to be reduced.

This would be considered a grievous hardship. At the same time the seating capacity of the house would not be increased by a greater increase than is provided in the Dred Scott bill, while a larger body of men would be unwieldy."

THEIR INNERMOST THOUGHTS.

Professor Loman: I expect that Monday the Yale school will have an attendance of over fifteen hundred, including negroes, especially when it is remembered that two years ago we had twenty-eight and there were over sixty located during the summer.

Reverend H. Kemp: Almost every day I get from Grand Forks and neighborhood news of people who are moving away, moving west. Grand Forks is the best city in North Dakota, a great steamer port, growing at the expense of surrounding country. I tremble to think of the future of the farmers and the merchants of that section unless they irrigate, but irrigation will cost tremendously.

A directory man: I expect the official census figures of Duluth will be given early next week.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The corn crop having proved a disastrous failure, Kansas farmers are preparing their lands for winter and the acreage sown this year will be very large next season.

There are more farms coming vacant this year in the counties of Kent and Franklin in England than have ever been known.

Switzerland is proving a splendid sanitarian for the States. He is using plow, plough, including in mountain tilling and doing little else.

The Late Commodore McMickan, of the Guard fleet, a distinguished sailor, in his crew's respect, once said: "Get a crew's consent, and the winds may blow."

The Queen, Princess of Sweden, who will shortly descend the immense fortune which her mother, the Grand Duchess of Baden, received from her parents, is in very delicate health, and has been ordered to pass the winter in the Victoria Nyanza, in the Congo country.

THE PRESS.

Polk County Journal: Last year the wheat grades were altogether too stiff in the beginning, easing off before the close, so that the first grade and the best of the hard bran was taken at $1.16. The board has decided to establish the inflexible rules of last year, and pretty soon we may expect to see the old hard grades again.

No hard grade in the valley." And some would like to know "what ate the farmers?"

Fairly Republican: It is hard to please the democratic organza. Twenty-five years ago the "impense public debt will never be paid." Last year they urged that the state should be allowed to hold all of its assets in the treasury.

Now they are combining the wine over the "certain deficit." In the meantime the party is still the nation and has lost all its prosperity at home and the public will feel it.

Ferguson Falls Journal: The 13th is a momentous day for St. Paul, according to apoplexy. It is a day when the apoplexy of the Farmer's alliance must be, with its party, the most powerful, for Superintendent Porter is to announce the census of those two cities.

Owatonna Journal: Oh, what a "poor family" the organization of the Farmer's alliance must be, with its party, the most powerful, for Superintendent Porter is to announce the census of those two cities.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel: It is unusual to take up so many newspapers edited by friends and read the stocky columns of the Farmer's alliance, and to be dependent upon them. We are told that the organza filled with the nomination of its state ticket, will be a sufficient protection to American labor and to industry as need protection, while the organza will be a cheaper commodity to the people." The clause, which would have gone far toward redeeming that part of the resolutions was cut off, it is said, at the demand of C. J. Gandy of the Farmer's party.

Saint Cloud Journal-Press: The St. Paul Globe says that the Fifth district resolution for the following clause was adopted by Chairman Seale: "With sufficient protection to American labor and to industry as need protection, while the organza will be a cheaper commodity to the people."

The following is a portion of the speech made by the organza during the debate:

"I am sorry to say that the organza has been compelled to change its position, when the organza filled with the nomination of its state ticket, will be a sufficient protection to American labor and to industry as need protection, while the organza will be a cheaper commodity to the people."

Tell the organza that the organza told you of numerous instances of badminton which had come within their knowledge. Also! that "circumstances are such that it is necessary to take this course."

WEEK'S SOCIAL NOTES.

A Bethel Concert With its Excellent Musicians.

SEVERAL PARTIES AND RECEPTIONS.

Personal Notes of General Interest; Ladies' Odd Fellows Lodge; Some Other Matters.

That the Lachmund concerts at the Bethel are popular in the broadest and best sense of the word is strongly attested by the ever-increasing attendance, which already has made the Bethel too small, even with the additional room of a large gallery. The following program, which will be given next Tuesday evening, needs publication only to insure the filling up of every available inch of space. Mr. Lammers, the vocalist, has never been heard in Duluth better than he is now, and his voice is exceptional and a command of it such as but few singers of the present day have. Mr. Lammers having received the excellent training of a voice teacher, Norway, following the profession of music as singer and teacher for a number of years in his native land, New York city, and Chicago, recently came to Duluth and has organized a school of singing, taking up his residence, that of a chemist and is now the chemist of the Minnesota Iron company, situated at Two Harbors. As an interpreter and singer of "Ariettes," Mr. Lammers has few if any equals in this country. Mrs. Emil Schmid and Mr. Lachmund are altogether two excellent voices, the opportunity to hear them next Tuesday evening will take advantage of the best of the best instrumental music.

The program also includes a vocal solo, "Cavatina," ...Gounod; Vocal Solo, "Tales of the Lammers." Cello Solo, "Spiritus," ...Popoff; Piano Solo, "Impromtu Casan," ...Chopin; Trio (piano, flute and cello) "Andante"; Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt and Mr. Lachmund, vocal duet, "Saraband." Duet for Cellist and Violin, "Goltermann; Mr. Schmidt and Mr. Lachmund; Piano Solo, "Lieder," ...Rubinstein; Vocal Solo, "Love's Lament," ...Wagner; Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt and Mr. Lachmund.

Social Notes.

Mrs. John McLeod entertained several young ladies yesterday afternoon. Many Duluth campers at the Woodwood are breaking camp today and coming home.

Mrs. Dr. McCormick of East Second street, entertained her lady friends Friday evening at a card party.

R. S. Munger entertained his friends E. G. Haught and C. B. Haight of Battlewood with a planted whitewash last night.

Miss Alice Ladd had a dancing party last evening in Masonic hall in honor of her departing guest, Miss Grace A. Allen of Orville, Minn. The dance was a success and all enjoyed greatly. It made a pretty scene and was a thoroughly artistic affair.

The marriage of Miss Hattie Lloyd and Mr. Edward Burke, both of this city, was celebrated at the residence of the bride's parents, 21st West Third street. The wedding was simple and quiet, private, on the intimate relatives and friends of the contracting parties being present. After the ceremony the happy couple left on their honeymoon Pacific for Yellowtail Park, where they will spend their two weeks.

A gathering of lovers of music made an interested and appreciative audience last evening, in the way of a musical picnic, put on by the pupils of Mrs. Stocker. Mrs. Loman, soprano, who has assisted, but temporary indisposition prevented her place was graciously supplied by Mrs. George Greenway. The audience were delighted with the recital and pupils and teachers gratified and complimented, especially on the sharpness and clearness of rendition of the pupils.

Mrs. James N. McKinley and Mrs. John Flynn gave a charming reception last Friday afternoon at the residence of the latter, 12th Sixth avenue west. Shortly after 3 o'clock the guests began to arrive and from that hour till 5 the spacious reception rooms parlors were filled. Hours full orchestra was present. Potted plants of brilliant hue were tastefully banked around the tables of the reception room, and a corner piece of artistic workmanship, consisting of asters and similar, graced the table in the dining room where coffee was served a delicious meal. Among the guests of the afternoon were Misses Madeline C. Maxwell, Wm. R. Stiles, Gillette, W. E. Bishop, Morris O'Brien, Simon C. Chapman, M. F. Fort, George Greenway, Ralph Marble, J. F. ## OF THEATRICAL AFFAIRS.

Rose Coghlan and Her Temple Opera Engagement.

THE BIG THEATERS OF NEW YORK CITY.

Notes of the Drama and of the Operas and Other News of the Stage.

Last October Rose Coghlan opened Temple opera. On next Thursday evening she will be seen here again, presenting "Peg Woffington," her greatest success. Miss Coghlan began her tour at Milwaukee last week, and will now visit New Orleans. Her repertoire for this tour includes "Peg Woffington," "Forget-Me-Not," and a new play entitled "Lady of Gold."

During her Duluth engagement she will present "Peg Woffington" Thursday evening and "Forget-Me-Not" Friday, and will also play "Lady of Gold" Saturday. "Lady of Gold" was written for the star by Charles Coghlan, her brother, and Miss Coghlan is delighted with the piece.

It's amusing the way St. Paul papers speak of the new Grand Opera house. It is "indeed fire-proof (the only one in the world!)" is the best and most costly place in the world; besides this no theater in the world can approach it in grandeur and beauty. A little over $200,000 was spent on the place. The bare Lyceum building will cost $200,000, and when finished will bring it up to over $500,000. Yet the Lyceum will not be the "best in the world."

Clara Morris is booked for the Temple soon, and apropos, is followed the anecdote from the pen of Don Platt: "At a dinner party given by Mrs. Samuel Morris, Mrs. Don Platt, Garfield, Lamar, Hill, Henry Watson and several other distinguished men, fell into a talk on the deserts of actors in our day. Mrs. Garfield commanded the attention of the table in a eulogy of Clara Morris, the most gifted elocutionist he ever met, and her manner of life, he said, in his opinion, far inferior." Yet added Lamar, the most eloquent man of the senate, "I followed that one play for two nights, and came away with the result that you were right, her efforts without specifying herself how she did it, and I must say I was as much affected on the last night as on the first."

NEW YORK LETTER.

A Companion Piece to the Private Secretary—
New York, Sept. 11.—[Special correspondence to The Herald.]—William Gillette's latest, "All the Comforts of Home," had its initial performance at and also opened for the season Proctor's Monday evening. The results were gratifying, but to the large audience who came to witness the production and to the author and manager. Like "The Private Secretary," Gillette's great success, "All the Comforts of Home" (Elton Toller's "Finfall") comes from the German stage.

The comedy, or comedy-farce as it is called on the play bills, is a series of comic pieces to the private secretary—
It opens with a series of grotesque blunders and misunderstandings which in a very jealous husband, a scapine woman who is at heart a fool, a retired old dame whose desire is to meet an actress, his wife, who is jealous, strong-minded and a tormenting; his daughter, who is young and amorous; a man who wants to come to sing, who is not aware to a champagne breakfast, are directly concerned, and which half a dozen other people become involved.

W. H. Crane opened the second season of "The Senator" at the Star theater, Monday night, before a large and fashionable audience. The cast is nearly the same as last season. Mr. Crane never appeared to better advantage. Speaking of Crane reminds me that W. H. H. manager of the Star, is one of the recent European arrivals. Mr. Hobson will make a long tour, and will not be seen in New York till April. He will open his season with the Hotel Astor, and later will produce his new comedy called "Marriage is Failure."

While he was abroad Mr. Hayes paid a visit to Europe, and is preparing a play for Mr. Hobson. It is to deal with life in Paris, but it is not yet named and it will not be produced until about a year from now. Sardon is pleased with the play, and has engaged him to direct an attractive play. The author himself is coming to this country in January, when Miss Bernhardt is to play "Ophelia." He believes the Miss Bernhardt will have an excellent season here, and is also hopeful of success for Miss Fanny Davenport, who has the rights of the play.

N. Burges has opened the third year of "County Fair" and Alvin Barnstone Davis is worrying audiences with "Alvin Jolys." At the Casino "Aida" continues for a second month. The Casino Opera company begins its tour on Oct. 15, its repertory including "Mme. Angot" and "The Girl of the Drum." Saturday night sees the last of the Strauss orchestra at the Madeline Square Garden. On Sept. 20, Seelies orchestra begins its tour, and in that time out the garden will be conducted like any of the large concert halls of Europe. Boston people witnessed the first performances in a hall of "The English Room," a madrigal by Louis & Buchanan. It is similar in construction to "Hands Across the Sea" and "Babes in Toyland."

"The Green Soubriquet" McCullough's new opera will receive some pruning before it goes on the road. It continues to draw big audiences at the Harlow. The West March 7 will be given. While it continues to delight large audiences. The opera goes to Baltimore in four weeks, afterwards making a tour of the largest cities.

FRANC FOYER.
Rose Coghlan at Temple Opera.

Next Thursday evening Miss Coghlan will commence a three night's engagement opening in her favorite character of "Peg Woffington."

Those who will be well remembered as the actress chosen to open the Temple last season and who was so well received here and no doubt will be again. She has greatly strengthened her company. Certain it is that the three plays she will produce here will give opportunity to judge of her worth as an actress.

THE NORTHERN ORE BEDS.

New York Sun Correspondent

Writes From Duluth.

RESUME OF THE WORK OF THE YEAR.

An Eastern Mine Owner Talks of the Prices of Property and the Minnesota Ranges.

The following article appeared in a recent issue of the New York Sun:

"It is now a well demonstrated fact that the rich iron deposits of the Vermilion and Mesabi ranges north of Duluth continue into the province of Ontario, and there is not a little excitement among iron explorers and surveyors of this section. Over 200 explorers from this country are now working on the international boundary line to determine the location of the fields on which are located the mines of the Minnesota Iron company of Duluth. These men report that they rich iron is greater, especially in the Lake Superior range, than in the Mesabi range, and will leave for Cuba this fall, where he will take charge of certain iron properties in which Mr. Ely of Cleveland is owner. Colby is prominently identified with Lake Superior mining interests for many years. Previous to his connection with the Colby he was connected with the New York and Common wealth mines.

"It looks as though total iron ore shipments for 1890 from Lake Superior ranges would be about $2,500,000 gross tons.

The Andes Shaking.

The startling announcement is made that the Andes are slowly sinking into the earth's crust. As far as the La Plata basin is concerned, says Dr. Quet, who was 3300 feet above the level of the sea in 1745, in 1800 it was only 3570; in 1831, 3057, having sunk twenty-one feet during the intervening years. Following 1745, but three feet during the thirty-one years which intervened between 1800 and 1831. In 1830 the city level had been raised to 3230 feet above the level of the Pacific. To sum up the total, we find that Ecuador's capital has sunk twenty-six feet in 122 years. An instance of a similar sinking is found in the Andes (4000 feet higher than Quito, the highest city on the globe) is said by the same authority to be 218 lower than it was in 1745.

Afraid of Being Called a Mimic.

Philadelphia Press: It was in the city of Philadelphia that the first steamer started on the river to write out an order for a paper when he wanted one. A stammerer came in, walked over to this man's desk and began to recite the words of the paper he wanted to buy, "speak all American," but the way that they paid a shipment of 500,000 tons of ore the first year after the ore beds are reached by rail. This, however, is a weekly affair.

In the Vermilion iron district there is great activity and the shipments of ore are about 300 gross tons daily over the Duluth & Erie railroad, and 2000 tons from the Minnesota company's mines and 1400 from the Chandler. Small shipments are being made from the Pioneer mine. The iron is being shipped in flat cars, and will be greatly enlarged next season, as half-dozens on which exploratory work is now going on have been so far developed as to be able to haul 1000 tons each. The Zenith, recently sold, is putting in heavy machinery and already with two test pits in good order, there are seven more, and in another two and a half miles from the Minnesota base, has just sold for $100,000 and is in the hands of a strong company.

The mines are in the iron district tributary to Duluth, thirty miles from the iron beds, and developed for iron, and in every one the indications are such that they may safely be classed as mines in two years. This is a greater number than have ever been worked before, and shows the activity in mining here. It may be seen from this that the Vermilion range, and its companion the Mesabi, will in two years greatly increase their output.

This year's total shipments of ore will be from these ranges between $50,000 and $60,000 gross tons of ore. In 1884 the ore beds first opened and shipped 62,000 tons.

TALKS ON THE RANGE.

A Wealthy Mine Owner Gives His Views of the Range.

Maj. Evans of New York, who has made a fortune in oil, and who has just returned from a purchasing trip over the iron range, has sound views on the iron district and its development. He said to a reporter that he had been looking over the iron ranges, but not so thoroughly as he did two years ago, when he made a trip of two hundred miles by canoe and hand with Maj. Weston.

"At that time," said he, "I was offered lands in sections 9 and 10-02-14, at what seemed to be reasonable prices, as a very large number of lands were offered, which are owned by a sub-company of the Chandler Iron company, are valued away up in the iron ranges, and I do not know if I was ever offered lands at that time in sections 32 and 33-03-12, and sections 4 and 8-02-12, prices many thousands of dollars below their present value, and by that reason, when they were first offered and shipped for today, I also find that good lands in 02-14, 02-13, 02-12, 03-13, and 03-11, have almost doubled in price in the last two years. For instance the Macomber mine was offered to me for $50,000 which I considered $90,000 its value and yet today, if no one else would take it, I would make it. Of course I regret I did not invest two years ago instead of now and no doubt Duluth men are in the same boat, as I have seen that good lands in the same range are scarcely few and are interested in iron lands.

"Prices are high, and I believe the present quotations of lands at present are far better investments can be made in any other mining country or pardon me—ever your pet St. Louis river, and I have never seen such wonderful outcrops of ore of high grade too, anywhere, as I have seen on your ranges and I have visited about all the iron countries of the south and west. It reminds me much of the oil country, in what we called the lower oil districts, the oil fields, which are not as good as the northern ones, but we went to the Bradford district it was only a question of the number of barrels of oil your well would produce, a dry hole in the ground being but a bore hole.

GRAND REMOVAL SALE

GREAT REDUCTIONS

FOR A LIMITED TIME.

IN CHURCH PASTURES.

Presbyterians Increase Their Pastor's Salary.

NOTES FROM THE FAR WIDER FIELDS.

Annual Gathering in This State and Elsewhere; Growth of Denominations; of Missions.

At a congregational meeting held at the First Presbyterian church Thursday evening, authorization was given to the trustees to sell the church property which the members now worship. An offer of $10,000 is understood to have been tendered for the property. George L. Gordon was elected deacon in place of Frank Blackmar, resigned. The pastor's salary was increased $1,000. The work is being rapidly pushed, the construction of the new church which is expected to be ready for occupancy about March 1.

With the plans are drawn and the announcement has been made that the First Methodist society would build a large brick and stone house of worship, it is anticipated that the same will be done by the Presbyterians. It is to be done in the near future. A large share of the money needed has been pledged and the church sees its way clear. The new building will be ready for occupancy about March 1.

A large attendance is expected at the annual meeting of the Western Congregational association in Northfield next week. Efforts are making to secure a full attendance of the home missionaries on the occasion. Among the topics of interest to be discussed is the course of study for ministers. Rev. E. M. Noyes, of this city, will deliver the annual address, and a treat may be expected from him.

In its action at the recent international convention the Y. M. C. A. secretaries have passed a resolution in reference to the prosecution of Christians work abroad, condemning the policy of an association sending a missionary to foreign lands. With such an official decision of the association, it is to be expected further imitations of the Kansas association which were behind the party of young men who were recently in the South and have just returned, their number by death, including Warren Harris of Duluth, whose young bride had expected to join him in a year. The association, which is based on the general principle of propagating only on mission grounds organizations similar to their own in this country. The general interpretation of the resolution is based on the young men of Madras, India, by Mr. David McConaughay, and of which reference was made in this column last week.

The American board of commissioners for foreign missions meets in Minneapolis October 8 to 11 at its annual session. Seven new field delegations are expected. For next year the New England delegation in Saratoga has forwarded its invitation and a large hall will soon be erected there for the great gathering.

Sixty young men are in attendance at the school for Christian workers in Springfield. The larger portion will fit themselves for Y. M. C. A. secretaries. No less than seventeen, among them Yale's famous pitcher, Stagg, came for the courses in physical culture. There is a great demand from all over the country for Christian instructors in Y. M. C. A. gymnasiums.

The Independent has gathered some interesting statistics showing the strength of the various Christian churches in the United States and their growth during the past year. From these it appears that those that are in the United States 151,261 churches of all denominations, 103,300 ministers and nearly 22,000,000 members. During the year there has been a loss of 1,000 ministers, 4,900 ministers and 1,000,000 members.

NOT FAR ENOUGH.

No one has any crack to make at the policy of constraining reciprocity in the repeal of duties, except the faint sneer that it is an "after thought." This is not true as The Herald has shown from the proceedings in committee in February last, but if it were true, what of it? The adoption of the Aldrich amendment by the Senate—empowering the President to suspend the same, was done by the Senate—empowering the President to suspend sugar, molasses, coffee, tea and hides free of duty, in the event of the maintenance of reciprocity unequal and unjust duties or other exactations upon the products of the United States—is a sensible and proper provision for the benefit of the nation. If the views of the senate are open to conversion and amendment so much the better for the senate and country at large. If after-thoughts are better than first-thoughts, by all means let us have after thoughts. The adoption of the amendment is a testimonial to the common sense of the senate.

The only objection of The Herald to this amendment is that it does not go far enough. It is right to provide against the maintenance of illiberal duties on our products, in face of our liberal concessions, but the maintenance of such duties is not the only bar to our trade. By the system of export duties and bounties the advantage which we have a right to look for from the repeal is lost free of duty to the chief West Indian and South American produce may be largely neutralized. The laying of an export duty on sugars and molasses, which the best-informed Cuban predict will follow immediately upon the repeal of the United States duty, will amount in effect to a simple transfer of revenue from this country to Spain, without cheapening the cost of sugar to our home consumers. By such a duty and discrimination in favor of Cuban refiners, our American refiners may be very seriously crippled and even forced out of business, at the sacrifice of immense standing plants and capital. That this is not a mere bugbear is made certain by the private advices and very grave apprehensions of leading men in the business here.

There should be some adequate safeguard, as senator Fry and our own senator Davis have forcibly argued, for the home manufacturers and capital invested in the sugar industry. But, also, the home-grade sugar, right now, is in a position impossible to our home refiners, without coming within the range of impositions guarded against by the Aldrich amendment. That Spain would not scruple to make such a discrimination, if it could be done with impunity, has been shown by the duty before-mentioned on the staves and hoops of casks, which constrained the substitution of sacks to a great extent and broke down completely the American carrying trade between this country and Cuba. For the return freights of American slaves were relied upon by American carriers to make competition possible, and when these were cut off by the action of Spain they were driven out of the business, which fell into the hands of Spain and England and of "tramp" steamers. Where the range of possible profit is so small as it is in the sugar business, it takes only a twist of little import apparently to turn the scale in favor of the foreigner. Such a twist is a startling reversal. There was no time when the market was in such a state of transition as to make it a safe bet that the market would not be a better one.

The most thrilling experience that ever occurred in the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, which is said to have whetted the appetite of Conductor McMillan, Baggage Master, Great Northern, Fredonia, occurred on a recent run of Duluth last evening when they were in the car discussing some niche imported, each with an eye turned toward a local newspaper. One of the two who had first mentioned it's a secret to me, was a man who had been up to the legislature to telegraph a friend. "Who is spoken of for the legislature?" Back came the answer: "No one yet. Your name is prominently mentioned; wire down the stuff."

It is surprising to see how states will adopt different styles of dress perfectly regardless of the fact as to whether or not they are becoming to the wearer. Now, however, the "style of the season" was all the rage and in most cases it made the wearer appear hideous. The rod they used was a coarse, bone, strong and yet flexible, usually made of whalebone, and it was always hidden in the waistband. It could be drawn out and put to a good purpose, if not to a bad one.

Some of the contemporaries of The Herald are making an ado over the fact that Imperial mill stock sells above par. Why shouldn't it? It represents cash, dollars for dollar, and every cent was subscribed by persons who are not in the habit of losing in their investments. Nobody who understands Duluth ever supposed that stock of flour mills of the best modern design, located in this city and of deep water, could ever be anything but profitable.

An exchange says: "Mr. Emerson, the manager, says the Arnold refrigerator car will not be made here; The Herald says there is a good chance that it will. The public has its choice." Mr. Emerson has stated that the American company is not itself a manufacturing company, but it will contract with manufacturing companies and if the Minnesota Iron Car company—the official announcement reopening for work was given exclusively in The Herald Saturday evening, by the way—sees fit to arrange for making these cars they will be built in Duluth.

It is now stated that Superior boom real estate assessment of $34,000,000 of which $700,000 is personal and the rest real or personal—is to be reduced by a sizable change. It is also stated, that so it will have consistently and legally done so, the board would undoubtedly have made a much larger reduction from the assessor's figures." It would be of interest to know how much more than $300,000 a board of unrestrained sense would have cut off from the assessment. What but a bold board it is, anyway, to make such a cut at "Superior, on third going at the first slash!"

The pilfering of fruit and flowers and the wanton injuries to trees and shrubs on private grounds should be wound up with a sharp check by the city. As the police force cannot stop the offenders should be made to do it for the officers. Complaint against pearls in the country.

THE STATE PRESS.

Sillwater Call: When Senator Davis succeeded in forcing upon the senate the bill to prohibit the sale of alcohol in the mills he was received with a hearty cheer. He gained the applause of his state.

Verndale Journal: So far as we have seen, the press of the state has been very complimentary in its allusion to Mr. Davis' re-election to the Senate. He has made many friends, but he has served the district faithfully.

Glynn News: We are a trifle tired of the talk about Senator Davis' selection.

We think it is a safe bet that the committee will be a trifle tired of the talk about Senator Davis' selection.
